Texas A&M University
Division of Sport Management

-- Assistant Professor of Sport Management --

The Position: The Division of Sport Management (SPMT) at Texas A&M University seeks qualified applicants for a newly created Assistant Professor position. Applicants must possess an earned Doctorate in Sport Management or an appropriate and closely related discipline, and experience commensurate with the rank of Assistant Professor. Through their research agenda, demonstrated by publications in medium to high impact journals, applicants must also indicate their potential for funded research (i.e., Local-, State-, and Federal-level). In addition to research, applicants must have a record of outstanding teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels, demonstrated existing expertise (or the potential for) online teaching, and demonstrated expertise in statistical and research methods necessary for effectively mentoring MS (i.e., thesis) and PhD students. While we are seeking the best possible candidate, acumen in Marketing and/or Economics are preferred. The successful candidate is expected to work toward the acquisition of external dollars, contribute to the SPMT PhD program to enhance student recruitment, training, and mentorship, and contribute to our successful online program(s). Further, we are seeking an individual who pursues academic excellence through diversity at all levels and is committed to fostering an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive in the educational setting.

The Appointment: Nine-month tenure-track position with a start date of August, 2018. Base salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Summer and online teaching opportunities are widely available.

The Location: Texas A&M is located in the twin cities of Bryan and College Station, with a population of nearly 255,000, and is conveniently located in a triangle formed by Dallas, Houston, and Austin. The area boasts a low cost of living, a sunbelt environment, and is consistently ranked among the best places to live in the country. Texas A&M has the 6th largest student body in the nation with more than 66,000 graduate and undergraduate students. Ranked #17 nationally by the National Science Foundation, Texas A&M is 8th among US universities with an endowment of more than $9 billion, and according to US News and World Report, ranks 27th among all public universities in the nation. TAMU is also a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, one of only 63 research institutions with this distinction.

The Application Process: Candidates should send the following via email: (1) a letter of application highlighting qualifications for the position; (2) a comprehensive Curriculum Vitae; and (3) the name and contact details of three external references. Application materials and questions should be submitted directly to the committee chair:

Marlene Dixon, PhD
4243 TAMU
Texas A&M University
College Station | Texas 77843-4243
E-mail: madixon@tamu.edu

The Review: Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University: http://www.tamu.edu
Department of Health & Kinesiology: http://hlkweb.tamu.edu/
Division of Sport Management: http://hlkweb.tamu.edu/divisions/division-sport-management

---

Texas A&M University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. The University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and covered veterans.
Texas A&M University
Division of Sport Management
-- Assistant Professor of Sport Management --

The Position: The Division of Sport Management (SPMT) at Texas A&M University seeks qualified applicants for a newly created Assistant Professor position. Applicants must possess an earned Doctorate in Sport Management or an appropriate and closely related discipline, and experience commensurate with the rank of Assistant Professor. Through their research agenda, demonstrated by publications in medium to high impact journals, applicants must also indicate their potential for funded research (i.e., Local-, State-, and Federal-level). In addition to research, applicants must have a record of outstanding teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels, demonstrated existing expertise (or the potential for) online teaching, and demonstrated expertise in statistical and research methods necessary for effectively mentoring MS (i.e., thesis) and PhD students. While we are seeking the best possible candidate, acumen in Marketing and/or Economics are preferred. The successful candidate is expected to work toward the acquisition of external dollars, contribute to the SPMT PhD program to enhance student recruitment, training, and mentorship, and contribute to our successful online program(s). Further, we are seeking an individual who pursues academic excellence through diversity at all levels and is committed to fostering an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive in the educational setting.

The Appointment: Nine-month tenure-track position with a start date of August, 2018. Base salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Summer and online teaching opportunities are widely available.

The Location: Texas A&M is located in the twin cities of Bryan and College Station, with a population of nearly 255,000, and is conveniently located in a triangle formed by Dallas, Houston, and Austin. The area boasts a low cost of living, a sunbelt environment, and is consistently ranked among the best places to live in the country. Texas A&M has the 6th largest student body in the nation with more than 66,000 graduate and undergraduate students. Ranked #17 nationally by the National Science Foundation, Texas A&M is 8th among US universities with an endowment of more than $9 billion, and according to US News and World Report, ranks 27th among all public universities in the nation. TAMU is also a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, one of only 63 research institutions with this distinction.

The Application Process: Candidates should send the following via email: (1) a letter of application highlighting qualifications for the position; (2) a comprehensive Curriculum Vitae; and (3) the name and contact details of three external references. Application materials and questions should be submitted directly to the committee chair:

Marlene Dixon, PhD
4243 TAMU
Texas A&M University
College Station | Texas 77843-4243
E-mail: madixon@tamu.edu

The Review: Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University: http://www.tamu.edu
Department of Health & Kinesiology: http://hlnkweb.tamu.edu/
Division of Sport Management: http://hlnkweb.tamu.edu/divisions/division-sport-management

---

Texas A&M University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. The University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and covered veterans.
Texas A&M University
Division of Sport Management
-- Assistant Professor of Sport Management --

The Division of Sport Management (SPMT) at Texas A&M University seeks qualified applicants for an Assistant Professor position. Applicants must possess an earned Doctorate in Sport Management or an appropriate and closely related discipline. Through their research, demonstrated by publications in medium to high impact journals, applicants must also indicate their potential for funded research (i.e., Local-, State-, and Federal-level). In addition to research, applicants must have a record of outstanding teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels, demonstrated existing expertise (or the potential for) online teaching, and demonstrated expertise in statistical and research methods necessary for effectively mentoring MS (i.e., thesis) and PhD students. While we are seeking the best possible candidate, acumen in Marketing and/or Economics are preferred. Further, we are seeking an individual who pursues academic excellence through diversity at all levels and is committed to fostering an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive in the educational setting. The appointment will be a nine-month tenure-track position with a start date of August 2018. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates should send the following via email: (1) a letter of application highlighting qualifications for the position; (2) a comprehensive Curriculum Vitae; and (3) the name and contact details of three external references. Application materials and questions should be submitted directly to the committee chair via email: Dr. Marlene Dixon (madixon@tamu.edu).